| | | Claims | NO |

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Claims 1-33 meet the criteria set out in PCT Articles 33(2)-(4), because the prior art documents listed in the International Search Report (ISR) do not teach or fairly suggest a method of measuring performance parameters of an imaging device, said method comprising the steps of: maintaining a test pattern image, said test pattern image comprising alignment features and image analysis features; imaging a test chart using said imaging device to form a second image, said test chart containing a representation of said test pattern image; registering said test pattern image and said second image using region based matching operating on said alignment features; and measuring said performance parameters by analysing said image analysis features.

Furthermore the prior art documents listed in the ISR also fail to teach or fairly suggest a method of analysing images, said method comprising the steps of: receiving first and second images, said second image being a distorted version of said first image; labelling pixels of said first image with pixel labels; determining distortion parameters for aligning said first image with said second image; warping at least said pixel labels using said distortion parameters; and associating said pixel labels with corresponding pixels in said second image, wherein said labels provide information on a state of pixels in said second image before distortion.

The invention has industrial applicability in the field of imaging systems.
